Brothers Butch and Jerry Milbrandt first planted vines in Washington's Columbia Valley in 1997, and quickly earned a celebrated reputation among Washington's leading winemakers for the high quality grapes that they grew. After selling grapes for a number of years, they founded their own winery in 2005 in the Wahluke Slope AVA. Today, Milbrandt Vineyards is one of the most well respected vineyard operations in Washington State, and their popular Traditions and Estates wines are consistently receiving 90+ scores.
